These dates will be rescheduled when monkeys fly out of my ass.

In the U.S...no one gives two healthy bowel movements about MSG.

Give the guy a break! At least,as far as we know, the postponed dates aren't due to his alcoholism. I'm not the biggest fan of Schenker other than the UFO stuff but why bash the guy. True, he has let his alcoholism get in the way of gigs. Most people that bash him for being an alcoholic no doubt think John Bonham is one of the world's greatest drummers or Jimi Hendrix to be one of the greatest guitar players that ever lived. At least this time it was visa problems and not problems related to alcohol that kept him from playing shows in the U.S.

I'd definitely pay to see this lineup in a small club 5 ft from the stage. Since I'm an alchy too, I better start drinking early though; just in case they don't show and that's all I get for paying admission!

I wouldn't be surprised if he was hung over and missed a deadline for filing paperwork.
