

Terror: Live @ CBGBs

This on the other hand is about as subtle as a twat to the head from a bouncer. This is screamo metal recorded live with a mosh pit going and lots of aggression. Oddly enough the lead singer goes on about "positivity," but you know that people are getting hurt in the audience. For a live album, the songs are pretty good, but not great. You get to hear lead singer say the word fuck every other word in his on-stage raps. Yep, it's that "raw".

He rants about the poseurs and wannabes naturally. Not my cup of warm beer, I have to say. But you can truly feel the energy seeping from the speakers when you listen to this lot. It's earnest and in your face; just comes across as a bit overdone and dull. Something you need to hear live methinks. One for the band's fans.

- Marty Dodge

<http://blogcritics.org/archives/2008/04/12/165533.php>