

WHERE'VE YOU BEEN?

Some very interesting acts have recently reappeared, including the Genitorturers, who've had their album of sexed-up synth-metal Flesh is the Law re-issued. The band also just released Live in Sin, a DVD that features live theatrical performances of 10 songs. It's all leading up to a brand new studio release coming in 2008.

Speaking of ladies who rock, the much beloved Bush Tetras have had their catalog re-mastered, and 13 tunes grace the Very Very Happy collection from ROIR records. The set includes two tracks that the post-punk vets have never made commercially available until now: "Motorhead" and "Nails," along with several videos.

And Elvis, yes Elvis, is back in the building – at least in the form of the Destination Vegas DVD that promises plenty of previously unseen "private" footage from the King's Las Vegas years.
