As one of the most respected and enduring alt-rock bands of all time, indie rock group Guided by Voices (of which Pollard was the creative voice) almost single-handedly kicked off the decade s "low fi" craze of the 1990 s on the strength of such classics as Propeller and Bee Thousand making fans out of such renowned artists as Eddie Vedder and the Strokes in the process. And soon, the now-defunct group will be showcased on a career-encompassing DVD of live footage, The Devil Went Home and Puked. Straight from the personal archives of Robert Pollard, The Devil Went Home and Puked is a video collage made up of live footage from nearly every era of GBV and Robert Pollard tours (1994- present) and early GBV studio footage. This DVD also contains 9 hard-to-find full length videos from GBV and Pollard projects, including Circle Saw Boys Club, Winston's Atomic Bird, I-Razors, Get Me Extra and more.
