

Login | Register

ADVERTISEMENT

HOME NEWSLETTERS HOME ENTERTAINMENT NEWS UPCOMING DVDS MARKET DATA DVD REVIEWS BLOGS COMMENT

powered by

SEARCH

FREE VIDEO B

RELEASE DETAILS

Title: All My LovingRelease Date: 09/18/2007Label/Distributor: MVD VisualRating: NR (Not Rated)Retail Price: $19.95Genre: Pop Cast: All My LovingRunning Time: 52DVD Video Options: Color, DVD-Video, NTSCDVD Audio Options: English, Original LanguageUPC Code: 604388679607

ADVERTISEMENT

BUY THIS DVD NOW on Amazon.com

STORY TOOLS

All My Loving

By Cyril Pearl -- Video Business, 8/27/2007

MVD VISUAL

Street: Sept. 18

Prebook: now

> Respected rock doc maker Tony Palmer's engrossing look at the power of British pop.

"Pop music, the classical music of now," declares Paul McCartney at one point in All My Loving, director Tony Palmer's 1967 hour-long film about the British pop music scene, a substantial if lesser-known jewel in the treasure trove of '60s culture docs. Originally broadcast on the BBC, it sets out to instruct the gentry about the effects and influence of the music created by The Beatles, Jimi Hendrix, Cream and others, as well as the international business it quickly spawned. As it's a psychedelic-era piece, Palmer delivers a psychedelic swirl of his own: seldom seen music clips of The Who performing "Mary-Anne With the Shaky Hands" and Hendrix ripping through "Wild Thing" are intercut with newsreel footage of the Vietnam War and concentration camps and commentary from such talking heads as Anthony Burgess, Frank Zappa and Donovan.

TALKBACK BLOGS PHOTOS

We would love your feedback!

Post a comment» VIEW ALL TALKBACK THREADS

Advertisement

Shelf Talk: Any dedicated stateside fan of the original British invasion would do well to tune in and turn on to All My Loving, though it's doubtful they'll have heard of this period music doc prior to its arrival in the new releases section. Of course, positioning it alongside other releases that reflect the time—Michael-Lindsay Hogg's The Rolling Stones Rock'n' Roll Circus (1996) or Palmer's own Cream's Farewell Concert (1969)—wouldn't hurt.

Music documentary, color, NR (mature themes), 52 min., DVD $19.95

Extras: interview with director

Director: Tony Palmer

First Run: BBC-TV, 1968

Your B2B supplier
search starts here.

Find it

Product/Service Company

Kellysearch.com

Everything you need, nothing you don't

ALSO BY THIS AUTHOR...

Bug

Robocop: 20th Anniversary Collector's Edition

DOA: Dead or Alive

She

Redline

» MORE

TALKBACK

» SUBMIT FEEDBACK

There are no comments posted for this article.

Ads By Google

Direct Mail Publications

Your competitors are using direct mail. Read how in Deliver Magazine www.delivermagazine.com

Beatle Bootlegs

Over 500 DVD's and CD's Huge selection for Beatle fans
www.ArizonaBeatles.com

Song Of The South DVD

Remastered $18.95 each! Original Version New. Top quality mysongofthesouth.com